

BCMEA Negotiation Update

Dear Valued HMM Customer,

BCMEA Negotiation Update

ILWU Canada Serves Strike Notice Effective July 1, 2023, at 08:00 am PT in British Columbia

Good morning,

Please be advised that the BCMEA has received formal, written 72-hour strike notice from ILWU Canada with regards to the ongoing longshore labour negotiations.

Strike notice has been directed to BCMEA and its member employers effective July 1, 2023 at 08:00 am PT in British Columbia. This strike notice and potential strike action will not impact employees required to service grain vessels in accordance with Section 87.7 (1) of the Canada Labour Code. It is our intention that cruise vessels will also be serviced, and we communicated the same to federal mediators last week. It is unclear at this moment whether the ILWU will provide service to that segment of the industry.

In anticipation of a possible disruption, the BCMEA has prepared an operational contingency plan led by Director of Workforce Operations.

Despite this regrettable development, we remain ready to re-engage with our labour partners through the federal mediation process, with the desire of reaching a fair and balanced deal at the table that keeps our ports stable and goods flowing for Canadians.

The Parties are scheduled to continue bargaining with the assistance of the FMCS tomorrow, Thursday, June 29, 2023.
